Fruit Driven and True to Their Grape Variety

Wyndham Estate Bin 555 Shiraz & Bin 444 Cabernet Sauvignon

We have loved this pair for many Vintages, they are just so true to their Varietal Heritage. In fact we often use them as a teaching aid to highlight the difference between well made Cabernet Sauvignon and Shiraz. They are medium bodied and fruit driven; they are not sweet at all but the fruit is in charge of the bouquet and palate, not the big tannins and or oak that needs years in the bottle to mature. The "Wyndham Bins" as we call them have won numerous medals and accolades over the years and has been a good drink, at the bar, on the dinner table and or with the cheese platter.

Industry Leader in Just 10 Years

Warruburn Estate Gossips Semillon Sauvignon Blanc, Sweet Lips Moscato, Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon, Rose, Cabernet Merlot, Sweet Lips Dolcetto, Pink Moscato, Sauvignon Blanc, Shiraz & Chardonnay

It is hard to believe that Gossips brand has only been in Queensland for ten years, they have fantastic distribution and they really do sell thousands of cases. Well to succeed like this it has to be a good product, that is it needs to be well presented and each variety must be true to it's varietal taste and style. Well in truth plenty of Wine Companies over the years have done just this in Queensland and failed miserably so what is the Gossips X factor - Warburn Estate the Parent Company employed a "no nonsense hard nosed Retailer" to push the sales and that is what he has done very well.

A Big Bold Barossa Pepperjack Barossa Valley Shiraz

This wine delivers what you want when you taste a Barossa red. Firstly lots of flavour; then power and body; and these wrap around the Barossa fruit intensity which produces the impression of a plummy ripe 'sweetness' that is unique in world flavour expression. Shiraz is grown in most of the world's great wine regions but none display what has made the Barossa famous. Barossa shiraz we might remind you is by far the largest component in Penfolds Grange each vintage. None of this William Salter knew when he settled at Mamre Brook in the Barossa in 1859. Indeed the uniqueness of the red wine flavours of the Barossa, arguably had to await the genius of Max Schubert, who unlocked the flavour profiles in the 1950s with a range of amazing Barossa based reds for Penfolds.

Buy Great Wine When Offered

Wynns Coonawarra The Siding Cabernet Sauvignon

This wine is named after the railway siding – a local landmark that played a defining role during Coonawarra's early settlement. Completed in 1898, "The Siding was the ship out point for all the regions wines". A lovely story from the Wynns people, does it really matter? Not really, the important point is the remarkable Sue Hodder, with Allen Jenkins, have produced a ripping Coonawarra. They used new oak barrels, old barrels and a portion of unoaked fruit to keep it fresh and fruity, the colour dark purple, the nose ripe cherry, lavender and spice, flavours classic Cabernet fruitiness, malleable tannins and balanced with fresh acid.

"The Grey" Wolfe's First Wine - in 1967

Wolf Blass Grey Label McLaren Vale Shiraz

Wolfie's lifelong philosophy on red - get the very best fruit and make the wine lovely to drink as soon as it hits the market but also with the ability to age gracefully. At the time lots and lots of the so called experts said Blass Wines are to drink now and win quick medals for publicity they will not age, alas they were wrong and we have forgotten them but not Mr. Blass, he is a legend. Originally made from Langhorne Creek fruit it is now sourced from McLaren Vale showing plenty of purple through the red colours, a huge fresh aromatic bouquet coupled with tastes of rich red plums, dark berries, spice and balanced oak and tannin.

Smooth Silky and Very Classy

Wolf Blass Gold Label Shiraz and Cabernet Sauvignon

Twenty dollars for a high quality Barossa Shiraz or Coonawarra Cabernet is not a lot to pay. The question of value and how to tell 'what is value' in a bottle of wine arises all the time. No one wants to pay more than the wine is worth. With that said, what seems simple, which is answering that question, is far from easy. If we look at these wines, we find a premium region; a company with access to vast vineyard resources so they can select the best; a team of great winemakers; and the clincher, a winery that is set up to make wine in a way that duplicates what small boutique wineries do. Toss in the fact that our tasting samples were excellent and we come to the conclusion the wine is great value. We might go further and say the wine is undervalued on a world scale.

Richness Of Palate

Fickle Mistress Marlborough Pinot Noir

We usually take very little notice of the marketing people and quote only from winemakers, who always seem to tell the truth, or the top wine Critics, who have a reputation to uphold. That said we love this little marketing sentence which describes the difficulties of making Pinot Noir to a tee.

"Pinot Noir is fickle but she is charming, she is temperamental but bewitching she is the Fickle Mistress"

So it is a great name for a wine whose fruit is difficult to grow and has a liking for expensive Regions - Tasmania, Yarra Valley, Mornington Peninsula and Central Otago NZ. The fruit needs heaps of attention, and is therefore expensive to put in the bottle but if the Winemaker nails it WOW! - This wine has it all but somehow the price has been kept very reasonable!

Mount Monster Limestone Coast Shiraz 2015

David Bryson runs this family Winery in the Padthaway Valley 300kms south of Adelaide an area renowned for its rich red terra rossa soils just perfect for wine grapes. This wine has awards and we predict more will come it is a beauty. David has backed the flavours of his Shiraz fruit to promote the wine, the French and American Oak used only sparingly. The nose has plum and cassis and they are on the palate too with a lovely spice as well. David says it is a food wine so we matched it with a couple of New York cut sirloins just perfect, we must have swirled the glass to admire the rich deep purple colours three or four times. Thank you David Bryson.

A Genuine Ace!

Taylors Estate Clare Shiraz

A few years ago we were badly caught short by our friends at Taylors - we had the blinkers on just associating Taylors with Cabernet (you know the story old Bill Taylor went to Clare to make Cabernet on the Terra Rossa Soils) while they were making outstanding Shiraz and Merlot as well, and terrific Riesling and Chardonnay, and we were not promoting them all. The lesson has been learnt.

The Cabernet was our first favourite with just the right degree of oak producing the balance and poise usually only seen in $30 plus wines. Then we warmed heartily to the mighty Shiraz - just a lovely example of Australian Shiraz matched perfectly with Australian cheese of course.

McGuigan Certainly Knows Merlot

McGuigan Black Label Merlot

Years ago Merlot was almost totally used for blending; as its low tannins significantly softened more powerful reds making them mellow and more palatable. This is the case with McGuigan Cabernet Merlot and we urge you to try it for your wine education. These days there are plenty of straight Merlots and this one is your favourite easily ranking best seller in store. Why, well it is a good price and it is a fine wine too, right up they're in any blind tasting of Merlots. The fruit is king here, soft flavours of RIPE raspberry, cherry and plum enhanced by subtle caramel oak.

Jammos All Balance, Lovely

Jamieson's Run Cabernet Shiraz Merlot

We have forgotten how long ago it was that we first started recommending "the Jammo's" but it certainly is many, many years. Back then it was a real punchy number quite a big red really, where as now it is medium bodied, soft and rounded, fruit driven [Red Cherry, Raspberry and Blackberry] a lovely touch of oak and soft balanced tannins. As a result the new Jamieson's appeals to a much larger audience, perfect with or without food, just right when the need is red wine but not a big bopper to take your head off.

Love of Winemaking

Wild Oats Cabernet Merlot

Career advice always says do what you love. All well and good but most of us have difficulty matching the advice with the reality. We are sure that is why wine is popular as it is the perfect beverage to consume while you ponder the way forward. The Oatley family though do just that as they have combined a love of making wine, firstly with Rosemount and now with Wild Oats, with their love of sailing. Some very good and well priced wines are coming out under the Wild Oats label. This cabernet merlot is a cracker! Ah the flavours of wine: it never ceases to surprise us

Keenly Priced Jacob's

Jacob's Creek Classic Chardonnay

'Sweet' juicy fruity flavours make this a super drink, which to our taste, shows a lighter and more fragrant palate than the style of say ten years ago. Progress has been made in how we make wines over the last decade. Wine styles keep evolving, and a decade ago, Chardonnay was made in a fuller thicker style, which while tasty, tended to tire the palate. We are still astonished by the evolution and that is the thought that went through our minds when we tried this lovely wine. Very keenly priced and recommended.

100% Margaret River

Cape Geographe Margaret River Semillon Sauvignon Blanc 2016

We have been anxiously awaiting this most beautiful wine from Margaret River, which represents the best of the Golden West. This wine is made in small volumes, for this vintage only 500 cases and is hand selected by 37 year Margaret River veteran Alastair Gillespie, who is the Chief Winemaker at Flinders Bay Wines, where they also custom make a range of wines for clients who have no winery or are only partly established. With this Cape Geographe Alastair is able to use his vast knowledge to make and/or assist blending a superior wine, the result is again a sensation with this vintage.

Made Popular by Franklin Tate

Evans & Tate Margaret River Classic Semillon Sauvignon Blanc 2016

Sometime in the mid 1970's a few winemakers in Margaret River began tinkering with blending the two varieties Semillon and Sauvignon Blanc. It may have been Vasse Felix who first perfected the idea. It did though require the marketing talent and drive of Franklin Tate, to bring the attention of this magical blend to a wider drinking public, and he did so with this delicious Classic Dry White. Other regions in Australia now copy this blend, but it seems the magic of Margaret River does not travel. We believe this wine offers very good drinking value for a readily affordable price.

Buy Me Now I Am Terrific!!

Luna Rosa Rosado 2017

Every year we seem to write up these wonderful Rosé styles that Australian Winemakers are brilliant at producing, but you the end buyers are very shy on purchasing and we cannot understand why - we have the perfect climate for sipping a nice pinkish light red. Of course the beautiful colour comes from the red grape skins being only kept in the mix for a short time and the wine made very quickly and in the bottle straight away so it can be released young and fresh. Debbie Lauritz made this fine example and she suggests a winter or spring afternoon in the sunshine sipping it as an aperitif or with a Mediterranean style platter.

Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc

Lobster Bay Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc 2016

You probably recall the story, back in 2009 that good NZ Sauvignon Blanc was not stable in quality or price, sometimes they lacked the famous fruit character and at times the prices were up and down like a yo-yo, so we sailed across the ditch and Lobster Bay was our own. Part of our rigorous quality control is to taste bottles from every container and we have noticed that the quality was actually improving and when sales figures were checked it seems you noticed as well, sales well up. A quick call to the winemaker revealed all, the vineyard owners are so happy with our business their board has instructed him to use even better and more expensive Marlborough fruit.

Loads of Juicy Flavour

Upside Down Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc 2016

With loads of juicy flavour and a fair price what else could we do but promote this NZ Sauvignon Blanc. Wine consumers are telling us you cannot have too much of a good thing so we keep looking for wines such as this even though we have quite a few of these New Zealanders already in stock. Each one is subtly different so just seek out the one you prefer though we would tend not to follow the more expensive wines. In masked tastings we seldom see the difference between the budget and the expensive.

Marlborough & Excellent

Kim Crawford Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc 2016

We must confess we have often ordered the Kimmy Crawford at a restaurant because of it's quality and complexity for a Marlborough NZ, making it just right with food. Well, we have finally cracked the Supplier, and now the price is competitive in our liquor store - value for money at this good price.

The info from the Winery says it has a bouquet of gooseberries, and indeed it has, but how many of us has smelt that rare little fruit. So let's go, lovely aromas of passion fruit and fresh cut rock melon together, this is backed up with Zesty flavors of nectarine and passion fruit and fresh acidity.

Winemaker Andrew Walkenhorst states, "Our aim is to craft wines that are vibrant, fruit driven and generous". Mission Accomplished!

Classy Marlborough Savvy

Giesen Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc 2016

We all live in a numbers game and the number of bottles sold when Giesen is on special tells us it is definitely a crowd favourite, a classic example of Marlborough Region NZ Sauvignon Blanc. Passionfruit, freshly sliced green apple and rain on cut grass are the bouquet whilst the flavours are vibrant citrus with tropical fruit and a little passionfruit, the balanced acidity leaves the finish crisp and bright. We certainly enjoyed the re-tasting and concluded that perhaps it is even getting better by the Vintage.

Easy Drinking from Italy

Ruffino Prosecco

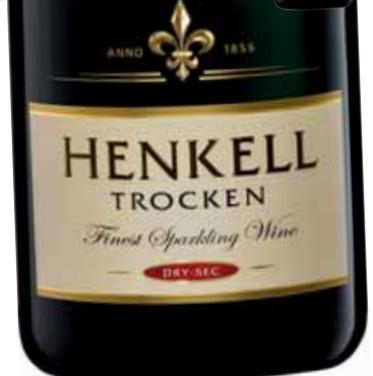

You might note our heading about easy drinking. Well this wine is made only with Gera grapes and that is what the end result is - a very easy to drink sparkler - not too many bubbles though. We love the Italian description on the Press Release - it is very Latin "fine bubbles caress the palate". There are no faults or drawbacks; it is great with food, especially pizza, just right for the evenings first tittle and we bet you get used to the flavours of apples and peaches on the finish.

Best Value Sparkling Under $10

Yellowglen Yellow Brut Cuvee

Light, fragrant and frothy, dry and tasty, there is no better way to start a decent meal or function than with a glass of good sparkling wine. Sparkling wine is the perfect aperitif. A glass here and there is even better. It though has taken years to get to today's quality level. Our advice for years, at least with budget end of the sparkling market, was to tell customers to serve the wine very cold; the colder the better. Why? Because coldness numbs the palate and hides the poor quality. Do not worry about that now as the quality is outstanding. We give the credit to Charles Hargraves the winemaking wiz at Yellow who did the unheard of double act - better wine made at a much cheaper price.

Clean, Fresh, Elegant

Jacobs Creek Trilogy Sparkling

What a result the Winemaker has achieved here. It so clean and fresh from the bouquet of red current and fresh crusty bread to flavours of the three varieties of grape Pinot Noir, Chardonnay and Pinot Meunier - the very same as used in French Champagne - and of course the signature dry yeasty finish. To achieve this consistent quality every year he or she is allowed to blend in other years, because it is a NV or not specific Vintage. In this case we believe wine was used from three different years. Trilogy is "a wine for all seasons" in that it is just right for celebrations, anytime easy drinking or at a dinner party. It will match with almost all entrees, salads or even a cheese platter.

Brown Brothers believe the strong Italian heritage of King Valley make it a perfect spot for making this lovely Italian style sparkler, which we think is a bit far-fetched; more likely it is because of Brown Brothers skill and technology. It starts with fragrances' of sweet floral musk then a vibrant palate of pear and apple and balanced acidity on the finish, just a delight for the afternoon.
