Queensland Loves Wynns & Coonawarra!

Classic Coonawarra Terra Rossa Soil & Climate

Lauded for Quality & Flavour!

Wynns Coonawarra Cabernet Shiraz & Merlot, Shiraz and "The Siding" Cabernet Sauvignon

YES these delightful Wynns Reds are our Coonawarra Musketeers, their smooth, up front varietal fruit flavours and perfectly balanced use of oak and tannins must be ripping the hearts out of wineries who can only produce more expensive $25 and above examples. Master winemaker Sue Hodder loves the Coonawarra Terra Rossa and though she does oversee the expensive Wynns reds these modestly priced three are very high on her favourites list because their fruit is as much influenced by the soil and climate as their costly cousins is.

Excellent Value! Beautiful Wine & Well Priced

Marlborough New Zealand

Nobilo Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc and Pinot Gris

Choosing which wine to buy is really very simple - always purchase good wines when they are on special. If your budget allows, buy what you can afford. Thus we believe this is an excellent Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc. We think you should take the opportunity to buy several or many bottles. What a glory Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc has turned out to be over the last few decades; beautiful, tasty wines that are attuned to the Australian outdoors lifestyle. The correct flavours though only develop in cool to cold regions such as New Zealand. This Nobilo offers the correct flavours and is well priced. Next time you raise a glass say, "thank you New Zealand".

Amazing Blend Joins Pepperjack Clan

Pepperjack Barossa Shiraz & Red Blend

The wags around the Pepperjack Winery boast that their very talented head winemaker Richard Mattner bleeds Barossa Shiraz, it runs through his veins. He was born Barossa and the only other red he likes is a slab of steak, to have with a Barossa red of course. We must give accolades to the people at Pepperjack, they had instant success when they started in 1998 but unlike others they have not rushed out with heaps of new labels but have developed slowly, always striving to be Australia's #1 brand by dollar value. The blend is rich dark red with purple rim, the nose fresh berries, mocha and oakey vanilla then comes the amazing palate, flavours of blueberry and plum, the soft velvety tannins giving structure and length. A MUST buy.

A Magnificent Burge Barossa

Grant Burge 5th Generation Barossa Valley Shiraz

When you think Barossa you think Shiraz. You also think of high to very expensive prices so this offering delighted us and purchased a few hundred cases. Well made Barossa reds give great drinking satisfaction and really have a taste profile unlike any other. The ultimate glory of this is of course Penfolds Grange. Well most of us can only dream about drinking that wine. What distinguishes Barossa reds is the explosion of fruit flavour on the mid palate often expressed as a sweet sensation even though the wine is dry. At this discounted we believe it is far better than the price suggests.

Affordable Tasmanian Pinot

Devil's Corner Tasmanian Pinot Noir 2016

It takes grapes grown in suitably cool climates to make ripe tasty, elegant wines. This well advised approach applies particularly to Pinot Noir led Brown Brothers of Milawa, Victoria, to buy Tamar Ridge, Tasmania, from Gunns in 2010. Devil's Corner range includes this convincing, lighter bodied Pinot Noir. Spicy, savoury and peppery notes season the vibrant varietal fruit flavour. And fine tannins add their grip to the silky, easy palate. These are keen prices for cool-grown, high-quality, drink-now Pinot.

Phew! What a Bargain!

Mount Monster Limestone Coast Shiraz 2015

David Bryson runs this family winery in the Padthaway Valley 300kms south of Adelaide an area renowned for it's rich red terra rossa soils just perfect for wine grapes. This wine has awards and we predict more will come - it is a beauty. David has backed the flavours of his Shiraz fruit to promote the wine, the French and American oak used only sparingly. The nose has plum and cassis and they are on the palate too with a lovely spice as well. David says it is a food wine so we matched it with a couple of New York cut sirloins just perfect, we must have swirled the glass to admire the rich deep purple colours three or four times. Thank you David Bryson.

Old Kid Becomes a New Kid

Taylors Promised Land Cabernet Merlot

This is a great price fighting varietal underpinned by the Taylors very large landholding in the Clare Valley. By this we mean the wines may not be 100% Clare, but to give the wines depth and strength they may add the best of Clare to the blend when required. What though excites us about the wine is the large lift in quality while the price has tended to drift down. A great bunch of wine makers have done wonders in the last few years and Taylors now make some of our favourite wines. They are now in Australian terms old kids on the block as they purchased the Clare land in 1969, so it's great to see the three generations of family winemaking invigorated and powering ahead, offering good wines at keen prices.

Queensland

Mateus Rose

This wine is perfect for Queensland weather, on the deck or beside the pool; it is refreshing when drunk nice and cold, with no winemaking faults a touch of sweetness and even a bubble or two. A product of northern Portugal, it was first made just after World War I a lot sweeter than now for the North American and North Europe markets where sweetness ruled. Mateus was a raging success particularly in the 70s and 80s when 3.25 million cases sold per year, it is a superior product now so give it a go and remember we told you, the empties make the best looking candle holders for the storm season!

“A Crime

Drink It”

19 Crimes Red Blend

What a name, a wine named after the 19 crimes that people if convicted of, were transported to Australia as prisoners, our first settlers on the First Fleet and many others after it, our convict heritage. Well, the marketing wonder who thought this up would either be now running the whole company or parking the cars. We really do wonder what they are on sometimes, these advertising types. Believe it or not the product is fine, a great little blend vibrant and bold, plenty of fruit flavours mixed with oak and vanilla, tannins so subtle they are almost not there and a positively lovely soft silky smooth finish.

Wolf Blass Yellow Label Cabernet Sauvignon & Shiraz

Yes, Wolf Blass was brought out from Germany as an expert on sparkling wines but fairly soon he was out on his own launching his style on red and white table wines and even though he sold the Winery many years ago that style was so strong that it shines through still. In essence the wines must show the taste of the grape variety but not necessarily be fruity sweet. The flavours should not be big and bold rather they should be smooth and delightful, ready to drink right now, but leaving room for cellaring improvement as well. And of course the oak, Wolfie wanted it subtle and uplifting, not bashing you under the tasting table with a lump of 6 x 4. Here is a chance at a very reasonable price to touch his history and of course if a special occasion arises grab a more expensive Blass - it will make the day.

Soft and

Fifth Leg Red Blend

Fifth Leg is the quirky off shoot of the renowned West Australian winery Devil's Lair and it has a brief to produce very affordable wines showing all the traits of its esteemed pedigree. Quite a task indeed! The main ingredient, the fruit, must be cheaper. Any new oak would be out of the question and of course the attention of the head winemaker, in fact all the senior people, would be on the expensive Devil's Lair brand. However the answer of course is in the bottle. It is a beauty, a blend of Cabernet, Shiraz and Merlot all soft and supple ready to drink now but with fruit quality and winemaking skill still acceptable for a serious red drinker.

McWilliams Hanwood Shiraz

This is a lovely wine selling for a lot less than it's quality deserves. In fact the whole Hanwood range is this way and we can not understand why, even though their sales are respectable, that they are not selling double the cases they do - it must be a little marketing error in there somewhere. This Hanwood presents with spicy aromas combined with peppery, savoury notes and flavours of ripe red berries. The tannins are light to balance the wine out and give it direction, the finish a touch of smooth dryness... and the feeling, another half glass before dinner, and for sure dinner too, as it will compliment any main course... it has some soul!

Wolf Blass Yellow Label Chardonnay

This wine has been around for many years but the classy winemakers at Blass have changed with the times so this is indeed a very modern style of Chardonnay. The aromas of melon and peach and a touch of oak follow through to a generous medium bodied palate starring the same fruits, then a real creamy texture with subtle oak is followed by a lingering finish. Years ago, made in the old style the oak would have been overpowering, the texture buttery rather than creamy and the wonderful fruit would have been only just there instead of being the feature.

Tempus Two Chardonnay

The spiritual home of Tempus Wines is the Hunter Valley NSW where it was established by the famous McGuigan family but the fruit for their classy wines can come from any region in Australia which they believe is excelling in the variety. Thus this cool climate Chardonnay hails from Adelaide Hills and the Tempus people have done it proud, the bouquet all peaches, nectarine and quince, the palate citrus and peaches and the finish a bright lemony acidity. We add a thought from the Winemaker -

"The high standard of Wines here is really fantastic and the atmosphere in the Winery is great so I couldn't ask for more." - Andrew Duff

Yalumba Y Pinot Grigio

Drinking wine is a lot about discovery and no country embraces this as easily as Australia. New labels and new blends pop up every day and many of the wines we love today were not around five years ago. Which brings us to pinot grigio (pinot gris to others) which has a long history and is thought to have derived from pinot noir. We find it makes a delicious, delicate white wine, a white pinot noir if you like and strongly recommend it. The Yalumba Y series bring outstanding value and provide you with a risk free taste for a modest price.

Australia's best natural oysters and our lovely Rieslings are truly world class, a match made in heaven, they should not be enjoyed without each other - and although this is not such a famous Riesling to the public, we who know salute it's quality and indeed it's creators the famous family of winemaking, Smiths at Yalumba. Pewsey Vale is the Riesling Yalumba push marketing wise but we believe Heggies is the better option most years - a little more bright and zesty, the wonderful herby citrus acidity a bit more pronounced and offering great tastes in future if you can keep it locked in the cellar. A Very Fair Price for Good Honest Marlborough

Rahiti Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc 2016

Now we hardly needed any more examples of New Zealand Sauvignon, there are shelves of them, but we tasted Rahiti and we became instant fans, every element and characteristic of the more expensive "Savvies" was present and the price very reasonable indeed. Love at first sight - bright and almost clear with a touch of straw colours and even a little green tinge; a bouquet of fresh tropical fruits, passion fruit and the famous hint of fresh cut green grass; tastes of citrus, passion fruit and even gooseberry; a crisp acidity to aid the finish; overall fruity but not too sweet.

Marlborough Magic!

Secret Stone Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc

Another delight from Marlborough and we happily add this to our extensive range of sauvignons. Keep sending them over NZ as we love them and as we have often remarked, think they are the perfect wines for our climate. It is hard to believe now but just a few years ago many of these wines were on allocation but now there is plenty for everyone. The point being that as a general observation we think the price per bottle has come back two to three dollars - and that is money back in your pocket - exactly where it belongs.

Stoneleigh Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc

A wonderful, punchy, crisply textured, Sauvignon Blanc from Marlborough in New Zealand. Asked years ago to describe the flavours, we thought the best was to say that "if you like Granny Smith apples, you will love the taste of these wines". Even closer is the taste and smell of gooseberries but you will look high and low in the most fashionable fruit shops of Australia and not find this fruit, so few people actually know what a gooseberry tastes like. We are blessed that the quantities of Sauvignon Blanc are at last plentiful and next time you raise a glass say, 'thank you New Zealand'.

Fresh into our shops is this mighty New Zealander from Marlborough. We think you will agree that when a wine is of good quality and is very cheap it provides the consumer with a winning combination. In this case you are getting the taste you like at risk free price. A great deal of Marlborough Sauvignon is now flowing into Australia and we are on alert to watch out for the dud wines. To date we are relieved to say they are made very well indeed so we think we can safely say: trade down in price and save lots of money. Indeed we're so impressed with this wine, that it just had to be included in our catalogue.

Marlborough & Excellent

Kim Crawford Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc and Marlborough Pinot Gris

We have been great fans of the Sauvignon Blanc for many years and now that the price is competitive we decided to look at the Pinot Gris and we were thrilled - the Savvy has a big brother. The Pinot Gris has all the beautiful aromas with perhaps a touch more citrus than the Sauvignon Blanc, but the difference is in the mouth, the Gris being dry in style, very refreshing, a hint of spiced pear or apple and a long finish - it is a must try. We are taking nothing away from the Savvy it is one of our favourites, but if you normally purchase 6 throw in a couple of Gris too - you will not regret it. Andrew Walkenhorst, Kim Crawford Winemaker "our aim is to craft wines that are vibrant, fruit driven and generous". Mission Accomplished!

Bargain Sparkler for Summer Months

Eaglehawk Cuvee Brut Sparkling

How do these big companies punch out wines this good, at this price, when the smaller ones have no show. Old adage "always buy the cheaper stuff from the big boys in town." The reason - a combo of economies of scale, better equipment, better buying power and we suspect they would often have a few parcels of higher quality juice left over and they blend it in. Thus we are presented with a lovely flavoursome Sparkler with zesty citrus, white peach and sherbet aromas, the flavours of apple and melon followed by a crisp refreshing finish.

We love the Italian description on the Press Release - it is very Latin "fine bubbles caress the palate". So if life is being kind and you feel like celebrating now is the time to indulge with the French product. Mumm is one of the best - a lot of Champagnes taste similar, that said we can always identify Mumms even in a blind tasting - it stands out with it's signature delicate touch of yeast flavours on the palate - beautiful brown toast, not burnt, yeastiness shines through. Keeping Dr Lindeman Happy

Lindemans Bin 95 Sauvignon Blanc

Our big wine companies work very hard to make their humbly priced wines of the highest quality, because they see them as 'entry level wines' that may tempt you to spend more next time. Lindemans will also be adding premium quality grapes from all the right cool climate regions, further lifting the quality. For us a sure sign of a wine snob is someone who says wines, such as this lovely Lindemans, are rubbish. You see they equate, and alas this is very common, price with quality - the higher the price, the better the wine. Thank you Dr. Lindeman.
